2013 State Legislative Summary

State legislatures have concluded their 2013 legislative sessions. Several have bills that will carry over to the 2014 sessions. For more up-to-date information on state legislative activity in 2014, be sure to look for AIHA Director of Government Affairs Aaron Tripler's new "State Talk" column in The Synergist®. The first column will appear in the newly redesigned January 2014 issue. AIHA members can access the digital edition of The Synergist through the Member Center on www.aiha.org.

“Moving forward, state government affairs is only going to grow and become more important. It’s not that the number of bills will increase over the years, but more that our interest in those bills and our action on them needs to increase. We can truly have a more positive influence on the IH profession and on occupational health and safety by doing more with state legislative measures.”

—Aaron Tripler, director, AIHA Government Affairs
