NEWS RELEASE

The Supreme Court Affordable Care Act Ruling and its Impact on Older Americans

New Analysis Provides Detailed Breakdown of Possible High Court Scenarios and What They Would Mean for Seniors on Medicare and Medicaid

The National Senior Citizens Law Center and the National Committee to Preserve Social Security and Medicare have released a new analysis detailing the impact of various possible Supreme Court Affordable Care Act rulings on millions of American seniors who rely on Medicare and Medicaid.

This report is being made available to journalists preparing for the Supreme Court's decision to provide background and detailed analysis of Medicare and Medicaid provisions which could be affected if some or all of the health care reform law is altered.

You can see the full analysis on the NSCLC website here.

A press conference call with executives and analysts from both organizations to discuss the ruling's impact and strategies for moving forward will be scheduled following the announcement of the Supreme Court's decision.
