HOUSE BUDGET COMMITTEE GOP RELEASES A RESPONSIBLE, BALANCED BUDGET

WASHINGTON—Today, House Budget Committee Chairman Paul Ryan of Wisconsin and Committee Republicans released their plan to balance the budget in ten years. It is a responsible plan to cut spending, reform government, and foster a healthier economy. It provides economic security for families, repairs the safety net for the poor, strengthens retirement for seniors, and expands opportunity for all.

The Fiscal Year 2014 budget will be formally unveiled at 10:30 AM ET today. To watch Chairman Ryan and Budget Committee Republicans discuss their plan, tune in here. (<http://budget.house.gov/Components/Redirect/r.aspx?ID=314040-51984708>)

Writing in today's Wall Street Journal, Chairman Ryan makes the case that we need to stop spending money we don't have. Ryan writes: "Yet the most important question isn't how we balance the budget. It's why. A budget is a means to an end, and the end isn't a neat and tidy spreadsheet. It's the well-being of all Americans. By giving families stability and protecting them from tax hikes, our budget will promote a healthier economy and help create jobs. Most important, our budget will reignite the American Dream, the idea that anyone can make it in this country."
